SUMMIT 2026

Harnessing ML/AI for the Design & Optimization of Biotherapeutics

The BioLogic Summit, organized by the seasoned teams behind PEGS and PepTalk, unites the biologics community to examine the transformative role of AI and machine learning in advancing biologic design and development. Designed with hybrid scientists in mind—those blending experimental and computational approaches, the event features four specialized conference tracks, inspiring keynote presentations, collaborative small-group discussions, and practical training seminars.
